

Title: INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS PRODUCTION	Code: EE0101
---	--------------

Policy Reference: E100, Instructional Support

All instructional materials prepared by faculty may be produced or reproduced under the following two levels of support observing MATC copyright standards (see Administrative Regulation and Procedure EE0100):

- I. SELF-SERVICE SUPPORT - Material is charged to instructional departments.
 - A. Handout Material Preparation - Faculty offices may have computers and printers available to prepare handouts. In addition to this equipment, media/computer centers, the Center for Teaching Excellence, and the Faculty Resource Centers have facilities to scan text and graphics,] score tests, conduct statistical analysis, and share referencest.
 - B. Handout Material Duplication - Copy machines are located throughout the district for faculty to reproduce up to 20 copies. Each campus Faculty Resource Center, including the Center for Teaching Excellence, has a duplication center where faculty may reproduce runs of up to 20 total copies. For higher volumes, Print Services ~~the Bindery~~ at the Milwaukee campus provides duplication services with a 48-hour lead-time. Color copies are only available through Print Services.
 - C. (AV) Presentation Material Preparation- The Faculty Resource Centers on each campus have computers, digital cameras, and audio recording devices, for faculty to prepare their own AV material for classroom presentation. Faculty may also check out data/video projectors for displaying their multimedia materials if their classrooms don't already have them installed.
 - D. (AV) Presentation Material Duplication - The Library on Milwaukee Campus and Media Center on regional campuses will process requests to duplicate audio and videotapes with copyright clearance and where editing is not required. All technical/professional services are to be requested as described in Section II as follows.
- II. Professional Support Service - Faculty who need professional production services for art, photography, editing, typesetting, printing, programming, etc. and have budget or project funds may obtain support services coordinated by the Instructional Design Division.
 - A. Manuals and Books - Faculty preparing course materials to be published at MATC need to contact the Faculty Resource Center for assistance in materials development and coordination of production service.

Title: INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS PRODUCTION

Code: EE0101

B. Audiovisual Materials - Faculty preparing audio recordings, video recordings, slide presentations, and computer presentation graphics need to contact the Faculty Resource Center for assistance in material development and coordinating production. The development of video conferences and Distance Learning/TV College projects begins with Instructional Design.

Office of Responsibility: Academic Affairs
Last reviewed on April 1, 2021